STEAMER HILDA'S DEAD NUMBER 128

[illegible]ty Bodies Have Been Washed Ashore---Full Extent of St. Malo Disaster Now Known. Survivor Describes Awful Scene.

[illegible]NDON, Nov. 20.—One hundred and [illegible]ty-eight persons lost their lives in [illegible] wreck of the London & Southwestern [illegible] Railway company's steamer Hilda [illegible] the northern coast of France Saturday [illegible] night, according to an official estimate given out tonight by the officers [illegible]. This death roll includes [illegible] salon passengers, [illegible] French onion sellers and twenty-[illegible] of the crew.

[illegible] MALO, France, Nov. 20.—realization of the full extent of the disaster [illegible] the cross-channel steamer Hilda [illegible] the people of St. Malo today [illegible] finding of bodies were [illegible] points along the [illegible] over sixty bodies [illegible] been washed up, including that [illegible] Captain Gregory, the commander of [illegible] wrecked ship, which now lies in [illegible] hospital here, and as fast as other [illegible] arrive they will be placed in a [illegible] for them. It is believed [illegible] 125 persons were drowned.

[illegible] of salon passengers [illegible] These are, Mrs [illegible] children and their governess; [illegible] Stanley, his wife, two [illegible] and maid; Major and Mrs. [illegible] Mr. [illegible]esley and Mr. Grindle. [illegible] survivors are rapidly recovering. [illegible] the only seaman of the [illegible] steamer Hilda, saved [illegible] of that vessel off this [illegible] night, says there was [illegible]. All rushed to the [illegible] sea rendered it impossible to launch them. Gunter clung [illegible] the topmast with nine [illegible] including the chief [illegible] who died during [illegible]. The Hilda struck [illegible] Saturday night. She was [illegible] the time. Rockets [illegible] there was no response. [illegible] the ship broke [illegible] decks were swept [illegible] of the few survivors [illegible] seized by the steamer [illegible] Sunday morning [illegible] having endured twelve hours of [illegible] response to the captain's appeal [illegible] would be useless to [illegible] to launch the boats, all the Women and children were mustered in the main hatch and the stewards fixed life belts around each of them, the French onion sellers assisting in the work. Everybody was very quiet.

Gunter says there were about twenty persons in the rigging when the vessel foundered. He describes pathetically how the men gradually dropped off exhausted by the terrible cold and says the roar of the elements was awful. As the men fell off they ejaculated:

"We have had enough of this. It does not matter how we die. Good-bye."

Gunter himself fought against a strong inclination to sleep, and says that before his rescue he cared little what became of him.

The entrance to the harbor of St. Malo is one of the most difficult known to mariners. On Saturday night a blinding snowstorm with haze and high wind prevailed and it is little wonder that even so experienced a navigator as Captain Gregory lost his reckoning, especially at the point where the Hilda struck, only a few yards deviation from the regular course meant destruction. Torpedoboats dispatched to the scene of the wreck ascertained that there is no hope of salvaging the vessel.

PARIS, Nov. 20.—The Petit Journal presents an interview by its correspondent at St. Malo with one of the survivors of the wreck of the Hilda, who gave the following graphic description of the wreck:

"When the Hilda struck on the reef I was on deck with the five others who were brought here. Seeing the signals made by the captain, I was asking myself what was going to happen, and thought that my end was near, when suddenly my ears became confused as though there were peals of thunder and I felt that the steamer was no longer moving. Around me I could hear yells and imprecations and amidst this hubbub a voice, that of the second officer, was saying:

"'All the boats are loose. My God, it is too late.'

"The vessel then shook and compelled me to leave my footing. I was thrown

PRESIDENT ASSAILS WHITNEY'S HONESTY

Charges Further Willful Misrepresentation and Denies Requested Interview---Case Is Dismissed---Correspondence Made Public.

BOSTON, Nov. 20.—Henry M. Whitney, [illegible] Democratic [illegible] of [illegible] governor [illegible] Massachusetts [illegible] made public tonight [illegible] which has passed between President Roosevelt and himself [illegible] statement made by the president [illegible] with an interview [illegible] granted [illegible] The president [illegible] Mr. Whitney [illegible] touching [illegible] last week in favor of [illegible]

Mr. Whitney has [illegible] resented what had occurred [illegible] ter's conference. With this [illegible] in mind the president [illegible] upon [illegible] the [illegible] of which was Governor W. L. Douglas. The statement of Mr. Whitney [illegible] the recent canvass in Massachusetts that the president told him [illegible] reciprocity with Canada was [illegible] to which the president took exception.

In the correspondence, which is given publicity tonight, Mr. Whitney [illegible] to President Roosevelt that the president had done him a great wrong in charging him with willful misrepresentation, requested an interview with the president and expressed his regret that reciprocity did not have the president's indorsement. In his reply President Roosevelt declares that Mr. Whitney's letter furnishes additional evidence "of the wisdom of my refusing to communicate further with you," and asserts that nothing [illegible] has ever said had given Mr. Whitney the slightest warrant in making the statement that reciprocity was not to have the president's aid. He charges Mr. Whitney with making additional deliberate misstatements and closes by refusing to grant the requested interview.

Mr. Whitney's letter to the president follows:

"Boston, Nov. 17.—Sir: You have done me a great injustice in publicly asserting that I have willfully misrepresented your attitude on the question of reciprocity with Canada, and that this was done in cowardly fashion by saying what I did under conditions when the dignity of your high office prevented you from denying. I think I am not open to the charge. I claim [illegible] my humble way to be a fair fighter [illegible] I have [illegible] the [illegible] I may [illegible] into error. [illegible] with an [illegible] of which I am not guilty, you have condemned [illegible] I appeal to your sense [illegible] a personal hearing. My [illegible] touching your attitude [illegible] question are very few and [illegible]. I will bring them with me if you [illegible] this request. I will have the passages marked and it will not take [illegible] to read them. I trust [illegible] that you will grant my request. But whether you do or do not I shall regret more than anything else in connection with this matter the righteous cause of reciprocity with neighboring countries of so much value to our people and to the whole of the human race is not to have the indorsement of your great name and the benefit of your potent aid.

"I take the liberty of inclosing herewith a public statement made by myself and my associates touching the matter of our interview with you last winter, which, perhaps, you may not have seen, and remain,

"Yours very respectfully,

"HENRY M. WHITNEY."

The letter from the president to Mr. Whitney is as follows:

"Nov. 18, 1905.—Sir: I have your letter of the 17th. In view of my previous experience with you I am obliged to state with regret that it is out of the question for me to grant you another interview. In this letter of November 17, in which you make this request, you furnish additional evidence of the wisdom of my refusing to communicate with you, my refusal being based upon your evident inability to understand or determination to misrepresent what I say. In this letter you state that you 'regret more than anything else in connection with this matter that the righteous cause of reciprocity with neighboring countries, of so much value to our people and to the whole of the human race, is not

[illegible]EIGHT STEAMER THOUGHT TO HAVE SUNK WITH CREW

[illegible]ARKS HARBOR, N. S., Nov. 20.—[illegible] steamer Turbin, with [illegible] crew of about sixteen [illegible] have foundered in a [illegible] which swept over Nova [illegible]. The coasting steamer [illegible] which arrived here today [illegible] brought news that [illegible] about 3 p. m. a large steamer [illegible] to be the Turbin, struck [illegible] off the south coast [illegible] backed off in a few [illegible] disappeared in the [illegible]. Persons on the island who [illegible] strike on the ledge [illegible] considerable distance away and [illegible] tremendous sea running, [illegible] impossible to launch a boat. No [illegible] could be discerned aboard the [illegible] and so quickly did the steamer [illegible] opportunity was given [illegible] to [illegible] for their lives. No [illegible] could have lived an instant in the [illegible]. Suddenly a giant [illegible] steamer from her [illegible] place and the next instant she took the fatal plunge, carrying, it is believed, all down with her. The people of the island have no means of communicating with the mainland until a steamer calls there or the weather is sufficiently moderate to permit them to launch their boats and in consequence of their isolated position the first news of the wreck only reached here today.

The Turbin was bound from Sydney with a cargo of coal for Yarmouth. She was in command of Captain Knudsen and had a crew of sixteen or eighteen, all Norwegians. The steamer was last reported as passing Port Mulgrave, N. S., on Tuesday last, bound south.

NORMAL CONDITIONS.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 21.—Normal conditions of life are being resumed here. The workmen are returning to work; the electric plants are in operation and telephone communication has been restored.

AN OPEN QUESTION

STEVENS TO RETURN

WILL GIVE COMMISSION BENEFIT OF HIS VIEWS PRESIDENT TO CONSIDER REPORTS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Although the board of consulting engineers has decided in favor of a sea level canal, it is yet an open question whether the Panama canal shall be a sea level or a lock waterway. The decision of the board of consulting engineers is not final. The decision of the board was reached by a vote of 8 to 5 in favor of the sea level project, General Davis and Messrs. Burr and Parsons joining with the five foreign engineers against a lock canal. The report of the board probably will not be submitted to President Roosevelt for five weeks.

As to the character of the great project the report will not be unanimous. In fact two reports, a majority and minority, will be submitted. These reports the president will lay before the canal commissioner and chief engineer Stevens for consideration. Mr. Stevens will come to the United States from the isthmus to take up the subject with the commission and with the president.

Vital [illegible].

It is conceded by the advocates of a sea level canal that to [illegible] a waterway will cost [illegible] more money and time than to build a lock canal. It is known that in the mind of the president these are vital [illegible]. It is his desire that the canal should be built as expeditiously as possible and at no greater expense than may be necessary to provide a [illegible] waterway. He has indicated to [illegible] he has [illegible] that he [illegible] a lock canal, but he is determined that the subject shall be considered thoroughly from all points of view before a final decision is reached.

Chief Engineer Stevens will leave Colon for Washington next Thursday. He is coming to give the commission his views upon different phases of the work on the isthmus, but more particularly his views as to the type of canal. These views are already known to the officials who are in charge of the canal work, but an official statement from the engineer is desired. The visit of Chief Engineer Stevens for the purpose of giving his views as to the type of canal indicates that the judgment of the consulting board of engineers is not definitely to determine the expense, but the commission will earnestly take up the subject and make recommendations.

FIRE CAUSES BIG LOSS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Fire tonight in the sash and door factory of A. M. Dobowitz in Brooklyn caused a loss of about $100,000.

GOLD COIN MINE SOLD

RUMOR TO THIS EFFECT IS CIRCULATED—ONE OF CAMP'S MOST FAMOUS ORE PRODUCERS.

Special to The Gazette.

VICTOR, Nov. 20.—It is rumored that the Gold Coin mine, situated on Battle mountain, has been bought by the Granite Gold Mining company. Frank M. Woods, general manager of the Gold Coin company, could not be reached tonight, so confirmation could not be obtained.

The Gold Coin mine was long one of the best shippers of the district. Rich ore worth millions of dollars has been taken from its lodes by the company and later by lessees. The mine is still an important shipper and gives promise of further large returns. Operations in the bottom level of the Granite have recently been conducted through the Gold Coin workings because the Granite shaft does not reach to the depth obtained by the Gold Coin. The price paid for the Gold Coin is not included in the rumor. The surface plant is the finest in the land installed over a gold mine and is worth $250,000.

WOMAN ARRESTED

Had Several Hundred Dollars Worth of Highgrade Ore in Her Possession.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 20.—What is believed to have been an [illegible] removal of highgrade ore from the Cripple Creek district was interrupted tonight when Mrs. Maggie Morrison, of Independence, was arrested at Colorado Springs by Detectives Rowan and Shults, on request of Sheriff Bell, and the ore which she had was confiscated. The ore was contained in ten trunks and five or six satchels, and loaded in a Short Line train as baggage at Independence this afternoon.

The removal was observed by R. P. Russell and Marion Stark, who were passengers to Colorado Springs. One of them notified Sheriff Bell by telegraph that the trunks and satchels contained highgrade ore. An examination of the satchels at Colorado Springs confirmed the suspicion. The lot is worth several hundred dollars, it is estimated. In addition to the trunks and valises, which were consigned to Denver, Mrs. Morrison shipped a ton of merchandise by freight to the same point. It is suspected that part of this is highgrade ore. A warrant for her

SHAW TO HOLD ON

May Remain Secretary of the Treasury for Several Months.

CONFERENCE IS HELD

TALKS MATTERS OVER WITH PRESIDENT—OTHER CHANGES IN CABINET ARE CONTEMPLATED.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Secretary Shaw will remain as secretary of the treasury in President Roosevelt's cabinet until the conclusion of the approaching session of congress, and perhaps for several months longer. It has been understood in a tentative way that Secretary Shaw expected to retire from the cabinet about Feb. 1, next, or sooner, with a view to greater freedom in promoting his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination in 1908, although the secretary himself never has announced his intention to become a candidate.

Conference Held.

President Roosevelt's attention was attracted to some recent publications that Secretary Shaw intended to resign from the cabinet Feb. 1. Today the president conferred with the secretary on the subject. After the conference it was understood that Mr. Shaw consented to remain in the cabinet. It is probable that if congress should adjourn prior to the first of next July, Secretary Shaw will remain in the cabinet until the end of the present fiscal year at least, and he may conclude to remain even longer. He will remain until the close of the session of congress at any rate, even if that should be beyond the end of the fiscal year.

Secretary Shaw's decision to continue as a member of the cabinet detracts materially from the importance of some stories published recently that the president and his secretary of the treasury differed radically on financial matters. The president entertains high regard for Mr. Shaw, both personally and officially.

Other Changes.

At least two other changes in the cabinet have been in contemplation, but it is not believed that they will occur soon. Attorney General Moody, having formed a law partnership in Boston, expressed a desire to retire from the cabinet last July. The president persuaded him to remain for another year and hopes to induce him to remain until the close of the 59th congress.

Secretary Hitchcock of the interior department also has indicated his wish to leave the cabinet before the conclusion of President Roosevelt's term of office, but he has informed the president that he will remain with him through the present fiscal year, and perhaps longer. No indications are given as to the successors of these cabinet members.

VICTOR MINER HURT.

MINISTER TO BRAZIL DID NOT RETURN TO ANSWER CHARGES

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—David E. Thompson, American minister to Brazil, and Judge J. W. Penfield, solicitor of the state department, arrived here today on the steamer Tennyson. Mr. Thompson was asked if he returned to answer any charges brought against him and as he straightened up suddenly he asked: "Charges for what? Why, it's absurd. I know of no charges."

Mr. Thompson was shown a copy of a letter he is reported to have issued to policy holders of the New York Life Insurance company in Brazil. He read it over and said:

"Yes, I did write this letter and I see no harm in it. This situation is this: The policy holders of the New York Life, and there is a good many of them, were stirred up by reports that reached Brazil. They came to me clamoring and they wrote to me, asking me if I could not do something to allay their fears. Now I know and everybody else knows that any policy holder is perfectly safe. I do not say there has been no wrong done but I was the American representative and this clamor was against an American enterprise and I think I felt then that it was my duty to salve the feelings of these policy holders. You can not put this too strong for me. I have received no communication of criticism from the state department on the matter and do not see anything to criticise."

Mr. Thompson said he would remain in this city about a week and would then go to Washington. From there he will go to his home in Lincoln, Neb., where he said he would give some attention to his newspaper.

Judge Penfield, who came on the same ship with Mr. Thompson, returns from a mission to the South American countries on the Atlantic coast where he went to investigate trade conditions and secure information whereby some means might be devised to divert to this country some of the trade that goes to European countries.

ALASKA OUT FOR CHANGES

PLATFORM DEMANDING A TERRITORIAL FORM OF GOVERNMENT IS ADOPTED.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 20.—The Alaska convention today adopted a platform and a number of resolutions to be presented to the national congress by a delegate to be selected tomorrow. The platform demands a territorial form of government, a delegate in congress and numerous changes in the mining laws, pending the granting of self-government. Other important features of the request to congress are for an appropriation of $1,000,000 to be used in building roads, relieving United States judges of administrative duties and placing such power in the governor; additional lighthouses for the Alaskan coast, application of the earnings of the government cable on extensions of the system, and the removal of the annual tax of $100 a mile on railroads.

MRS. ENGLAND LEAVES BOARD OF CONTROL

DENVER, Nov. 20.—Mrs. Rebecca E. England, secretary of the board of control of the State Industrial School for Girls today handed her resignation to Governor McDonald because of the "unjust interference by those of whom we might expect better things." It is understood the reference was to the committee of 12 from the Woman's club, who have been active in the affairs of the school recently. It is rumored that President Donnen of the board of control will also resign.

IMPORTANT CONFERENCE

PRESIDENT TALKS NEW YORK POLITICS AND INSURANCE WITH GOVERNOR HIGGINS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Governor Frank Higgins of New York was a dinner guest tonight of President Roosevelt at the White house. Invited to meet and dine with the governor was Secretary of State Root and Postmaster General Cortelyou. The conference, admittedly important, began at the dinner table and continued until a late hour. The president invited Governor Higgins to come to Washington to discuss with him the New York political situation. The whole situation was considered with reference to the disclosures made before the investigating committee regarding insurance companies. What, if any, definite conclusions were reached could not be ascertained. The president declined to discuss the subject and the other parties to the conference were equally reticent.

TWO TRAINMEN KILLED IN WRECK

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., Nov. 20.—The east-bound Atlantic express on the Erie railroad was wrecked at Falconer, three miles east of here, a few minutes before 8 o'clock tonight. The passengers escaped with a severe shaking up. Two trainmen were killed. They were:

CHARLES KREIGER of Salamanca.

WILLIAM S. REED of Meadville.

FOR PURER ELECTIONS

POLICY OF MAKING PUBLIC EXPENSE ACCOUNTS ALSO THE SOURCES WHENCE THEY COME IS ADVOCATED.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—A meeting was held here today for the purpose of enlisting those interested in having aspirants for public office make public not only the expenses of the campaign but the sources whence they come. The meeting was entirely non-partisan, Republicans, Independents and Democrats being present. John Fox, president of the Democratic club called the meeting to order and moved the election of Perry Belmont as permanent chairman. Mr. Belmont, on assuming his duties, said:

"The policy of the proposed law is to treat campaign money as public money. Judge Gray, of Delaware, has written to me on this subject and has this to say: 'Corrupt practices acts have been [illegible] availing. Compelled publicity as to contributions and campaign expenses will be more efficient than all of them put together toward suppressing the evil of electoral corruption. It will work automatically and require no legal machinery of pains and penalties to enforce it.'"

It was decided that the chair should increase the number of the committee which last year presented a publicity bill to the legislature, the selection of the increase being left to his discretion. The meeting adjourned subject to the call of the chairman.

ANTI-SALOON RESOLUTION

NATIONAL GRANGE GOES ON RECORD AS OPPOSING THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 20.—The National Grange Patrons of Husbandry went on record today in favor of temperance and the curtailing of saloons, declaring "that they should be abridged until they are abolished." A resolution on this subject says:

"Every community should be empowered by law to vote every saloon from its midst or its borders."

The grange strongly condemned all influences brought within legislation by lobbyists or others and deplored the use of money in campaigns.

"The recent agitation," says a resolution, "and investigations in regard to extravagance in the management of our great financial institutions, the exposure of graft in high places and the enormous power exercised by great transportation companies through combined arrangements have aroused the people to a realization of the necessities of vigorous action if they would protect themselves against the inordinate desires of wealth."

Among other resolutions adopted during the day was one strongly urging congress to enact a law to prohibit the making of cigarette papers as well as cigarettes. The grange is indorsed the establishment of country high schools by a combination of district schools.

PRESIDENT LIKES FOOTBALL BUT ADVOCATES CHANGES; ANOTHER CONFERENCE HELD

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20.—Dr. J. William White, professor of surgery at the University of Pennsylvania and a member of the committee on athletics, returned tonight from Washington, where he had been summoned to discuss with the president matters relating to football. Dr. White said:

"The president did me the honor of asking me to lunch with him at the White house for the purpose of discussing with him the situation as to American football. An article of mine published in last week's Outlook was the occasion for the invitation. As to what took place during my visit, the president has permitted me to say that we are in complete accord as to the need of the permanent abolishment of brutality and foul play, of the increase of the powers of the officials and of the severity of the penalties as being necessary to bring about such abolition; as to the desirability of careful consideration of any changes in the rules that may be required to minimize danger while preserving the essential, manly and vigorous characteristics of the game and as to the urgent need of earnest efforts to secure a simple and uniform eligibility code for all American colleges and universities. The president said he 'emphatically believes in continuing the game.'

"The president added:

"'Brutality and foul play should receive the same summary punishment given to a man who cheats at cards, who strikes a foul blow in boxing. The umpire must have the widest latitude in enforcing this principle, even to the extent of ordering, not only individual players, but whole teams off the field, and college presidents should hold to the sharpest accountability the umpire who permits foul or brutal football in any game. We want simple rules, not complicated rules. The responsible authorities of the several colleges whose teams play together should have what may be called a gentleman's agreement among themselves that these rules should be enforced in spirit as well as in letter, each being held responsible for what goes on in his own college and seeing to the permanent removal from the game of the foul and brutal player.'

"The president explained to me the selection of the institutions that came to the conference at the White house last month by saying:

"'I was asked to call it by representatives of Harvard, Yale and Princeton and called it accordingly. If Pennsylvania, Columbia and Cornell representatives had happened to make the suggestion, then only those three colleges would have been asked.'

"The president spoke more than once of the desirability of continuing the game and of extending to as many as possible its advantages with the safeguard already mentioned. He showed characteristically keen interest and thorough acquaintance with the whole subject."

POLES PLEAD THEIR CAUSE; ZEMSTVO CONGRESS DIVIDED

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 20.—The delegation of 24 prominent Poles, comprising representatives from all the principal parties in Poland except the Socialists and also including members of the Catholic, Evangelical and Hebrew churches, which came to St. Petersburg to plead the cause of Poland, to make known the attitude of that country toward the government and to outline the demands which ought to be immediately granted in order to restore tranquility, issued a manifesto today to the Russian people reviewing the sad history of Poland in the last century, declaring that the Poles have no thought of separation or of independence and asking the support of all parties in Russia.

The manifesto firmly declares that the normal and peaceful existence of Poland will only be made possible by the granting of autonomy, permission to use the Polish language in the schools and in the courts and by the legal administration and the entrusting of the Poles with the government of the kingdom.

MOSCOW, Nov. 20.—The zemstvo congress today devoted two long sessions to the discussion of the question of the attitude it should adopt toward the new government and adjourned without coming to a decision. The debate indicated the existence of two apparently irreconcilable parties, as well as the lines on which the division ultimately will be made, though the relative strength of the parties was not shown.

A score of orators participated in the debate and they were about evenly divided between the advocates of the immediate convocation of a constituent assembly and those who are urging co-operation with the new governments so as to save the country from anarchy, if not a complete revolution.

to have the indorsement of your (my) great name and benefit of your (my) potent aid.

"Nothing that I have said at any time has given you the slightest warrant for making this assertion; and when, in the very letter asking for an interview and denying that you ever willfully misrepresented my previous remarks, you incorporate another deliberate misstatement, you can hardly wonder that I decline to see you, nor would there in any event be the slightest point in such an interview. In your speeches you pretended to quote from memory certain statements made in the course of a long conversation occurring nearly a year previous. You quoted portions of what I said and even as to these portions your language was inaccurate, and all the context was suppressed. As a result you as completely misrepresented me as in the sentence of your present letter which I quote above. It matters little whether this was due to a deliberate purpose of deception or to a lack in both your companions and yourself of a nice sense of propriety and of the power of exact thinking and of correct comprehension and repetition of what was said. In either event I feel that it would serve no useful purpose again to see you or further to correspond with you.

on the rigging and my hands instinctively took hold of the strings. All was dark around and I stuck there, notwithstanding the storm. Masses of human beings were grasping the same rigging and when the sea ceased to roar I could hear groaning which gradually ceased and then followed the hollow noise of a body falling into the water; another victim of the cold. This was how I spent the night in the rigging."

SOUTHERN PACIFIC TRACKS DAMAGED

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 20.—Information has come to the Southern Pacific headquarters here today that the gale which blew on land and sea this morning lashed the waters of Salton sea into huge breakers which damaged the railroad track and cut off telegraphic communication along this route. The rains had just finished extensive works to protect the track from the encroaching waters that flowed in from the Colorado river and believed that it finally had overcome the difficulty. Today's winds, however, caused great breakers to wash over the tracks.

NEW NAVIGATION SERVICE STARTED

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—With the departure from Naples yesterday of the new twin screw steamer Florida the Lloyd Italian Societa De Navigazione inaugurated its service to New York. The company is an entirely new Italian organization capitalized at $4,000,000. The Florida is the first of the five of the new steamers which will be employed in the service. The Florida, on her maiden voyage and first trip of the new service, carried 568 passengers. This service will make the number of lines engaged in the Mediterranean emigrant business total almost a dozen.

WRANGLE STILL ON

Intercollegiate League Unable to Decide Boulder's Proposition.

GAME IS PROTESTED

CLAIM THEY WON CONTEST AND CHAMPIONSHIP FROM TIGERS AT SPRINGS LAST SATURDAY.

Special to The Gazette.

DENVER, Nov. 21.—1:30 a. m.—At 1 o'clock this morning the representatives of the colleges composing the Rocky Mountain Intercollegiate league were still wrangling over the Boulder matter and little if anything had been accomplished at the meeting, which began here this evening.

The School of Mines presented a protest, claiming to have won last Saturday's game at Colorado Springs from the Colorado college Tigers and thereby to have won the league championship. The protest reads to the effect that Nordenholt made a touchdown during the first half which was not allowed by the incompetent officials. The protest has not been taken up at this hour and will probably not be touched unless another meeting is held this afternoon.

The proposition presented by Boulder, and which has been wrangled over all the evening, was that it be allowed to arrange equitable dates with the league teams. The Boulder manager said his school did not care to come into the league again, his idea being simply to establish friendly relations with the other colleges in the state.

The State School of Mines and Denver university were in favor of accepting Boulder's proposition while Colorado college and the State Agricultural college stood firmly against any such action. The argument is still on at this hour and the matter will probably not be definitely settled until an adjourned meeting today.

REDS DEFEAT GOLDS IN INITIAL GAME

COMPANIES MUST SHOW MISSOURI

WILL HAVE TO DO BUSINESS HONESTLY OR NOT AT ALL IN THAT STATE.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 20.—State Superintendent of Insurance Vandiver stated today that he has written to the Mutual Life Insurance company and the Prudential Insurance company asking for information preliminary to considering their right to transact business in Missouri.

"It is true that department opened correspondence with the Mutual Life company some time ago," said Mr. Vandiver, "and asked for certain information preliminary to what may follow. It is also true that I have for some time had certified copies of the testimony of Mutual Life officials. I am glad to notice that President McCurdy has announced that he has formulated a policy of retrenchment and reform and has commenced it by cutting his own salary in half. It is also gratifying to note that President McCall of the New York Life has agreed to return $235,000 now in the possession of Judge Hamilton if the latter does not himself return it by December 1. I can not discuss matters more in detail at this time. I have no desire to be considered radical, but I will assume all the authority I possess to enforce this demand—honest business or no business in Missouri."

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 20.—In a communication, several columns in length, Dan M. Sullivan, chairman of the Republican central committee, arraigns Ed Bell, sheriff of Teller county, by asking him questions concerning his conduct in office. He is asked what became of highgrade ore worth several thousand dollars taken from alleged buyers of stolen ore and why the buyers were released without trial; why he gave back gambling paraphernalia taken during the raids of last spring if he did not arrange with gamblers of this city and Victor to take a stipulated sum for protection; why he has not arrested men guilty of many burglaries and assaults if the district, as he claims, is enjoying peace and quiet, etc.

A. J. CLEUHE DENIES M'CURDY'S CHARGES

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Charles E. Hughes, counsel for the insurance investigation, today made public the following telegram from Andrew J. Cleuhe, former insurance commissioner of California:

Press accounts of yesterday's committee proceedings state that Secretary McCurdy swore that during three years of my term of office the Equitable and other companies each paid my brother $250 [illegible] benefit. If such statement was made or intimated by him to me, I pronounce the same absolutely false. I never received any money whatever from any company directly or from any person to influence my official action.

"If within your committee's province, and consonant with its desires, I will come to New York any day you may name and furnish full details of my acts as commissioner."

SECRETARY TAFT AT KANSAS CITY

ADDRESSES MEMBERS OF COMMERCIAL CLUB—DEPARTS FOR CHICAGO LATE IN EVENING.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 20.—Secretary of War William H. Taft, who was the guest of honor here tonight at the annual banquet of the Commercial club, said, in responding to the toast, "The Philippines":

"The Philippine islands are ours and must be ours for more than a generation. It is quite probable that those called upon to act as legislators will not live to see the day when separation consistent with the welfare of the Philippines can be made."

The occasion of the banquet was the anniversary of the signing of the John Jay commercial treaty. Plates were laid for 600 and the capacity of the ball room at the Midland hotel was taxed to its utmost.

Secretary Taft had arrived from St. Louis early in the day in company with D. R. Francis and S. M. Felton over the Alton railway. After being escorted from the railway station by 250 colored troopers of the Ninth cavalry, Fort Leavenworth, to the Commercial club rooms where a public reception was held, he was tendered a luncheon and later driven over the city. Thousands of persons greeted Secretary Taft during the day and everywhere he was given the most enthusiastic reception. Immediately after the dinner he left for Chicago on a special train over the Chicago & Alton.

STEAM FITTERS GIVEN CHARTER

PITTSBURG, Nov. 20.—After a wordy battle lasting five hours on the floor of the convention of the American Federation of Labor today, the International Association of Steamfitters, composed of members of that trade exclusively, was practically voted a charter by the federation in independence of the Plumbers union, which for the past three years has fought bitterly every effort to this end. The vote was nearly two to one in favor of granting the charter, and while it merely approved the recommendation of the committee on resolutions that the execu-

THE WINNING STROKE

If more than ordinary skill in playing brings the honors of the game to the winning player, so exceptional merit in a remedy ensures the commendation of the well informed, and as a reasonable amount of outdoor life and recreation is conducive to the health and strength, so does a perfect laxative tend to one's improvement in cases of constipation, biliousness, headaches, etc. It is all-important, however, in selecting a laxative, to choose one of known quality and excellence, like the ever pleasant Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., a laxative which sweetens and cleanses the system effectually, when a laxative is needed, without any unpleasant after effects, as it acts naturally and gently on the internal organs, simply assisting nature when nature needs assistance, without griping, irritating, or debilitating the internal organs in any way, as it contains nothing of an objectionable or injurious nature. As the plants which are combined with the figs in the manufacture of Syrup of Figs are known to physicians to act most beneficially upon the system, the remedy has met with their general approval as a family laxative, a fact well worth considering in making purchases.

It is because of the fact that SYRUP OF FIGS is a remedy of known quality and excellence, and approved by physicians that has led to its use by so many millions of well informed people, who would not use any remedy of uncertain quality or inferior reputation. Every family should have a bottle of the genuine on hand at all times, to use when a laxative remedy is required. Please to remember that the genuine Syrup of Figs is for sale in bottles of one size only, by all reputable druggists and that full name of the company—California Fig Syrup Co., is plainly printed on the front of every package. Regular price, 50c per bottle.

ROUTINE BUSINESS BEFORE CITY COUNCIL LAST NIGHT

Regarding the protest of Theodore [illegible] against the payment of the claims of Seldomridge Bros. and the Tucker Furniture company, the former being $100 [illegible] for [illegible] furnished the fire department, and the Tucker bill being for $[illegible] for damage at the [illegible] which protest had been referred to the city attorney, Judge W. C. Robinson recommended that the bills be paid, as there was no charge of [illegible] against the city. The city attorney also recommended that in order to avoid criticism in the future it would be well for aldermen not to allow their firms to sell goods to the city, as the transaction involved a deep legal proposition.

The communication from Walter L. Winkler regarding the grade on East Dale North street was referred to the street committee and engineer.

A petition for the vacation of the alley south of lot 7, block 22, Evergreen cemetery, was referred to the cemetery committee.

An invitation from the N. Z. Reed Hose company for the members of the city council to attend the meeting of the company Thursday evening was accepted with thanks.

A communication from the school board of district No. 11 asking that the city purchase a strip of land 10 feet wide by 150 feet long to increase the width of the alley in rear of the Bristol school to the full size of 20 feet was read and referred to the street committee and alderman from the Eighth ward to investigate and report back.

[illegible] court stenography [illegible] taking the report in the police court was taken up. Chairman Tucker of the finance committee reported that the original bill of $648.70 had been cut to $[illegible], and he advised that it be paid. It was voted that Auditor Peters indorse the voucher and charge the same against the police appropriation. Chairman Tucker moved that the bill be allowed and the same be charged [illegible] legal expense fund, and the motion was carried, Alderman Hill and Holden voting against it.

The bill of P. C. Wright [illegible] to the extent of $95.60 [illegible] accepted in full for all [illegible] and the same was ordered charged against the legal expense fund. Aldermen Hill and Holden also voted against the bill.

Bills aggregating $11,394.74 were read and allowed, Alderman Seldomridge being excused from voting.

All special committees that are considering matters referred to them were directed to report at the next regular meeting of the council.

By unanimous vote the council ordered that all communications, petitions, etc., for presentation to the city council be required to be in the possession of the city clerk at least 24 hours prior to the meeting.

The bill of Fairley Bros. [illegible] commission upon the sale of [illegible] furnishings for the new city hall was referred to the city attorney.

On motion the street commissioner was ordered to pave the east [illegible] alley, known as the Metz [illegible] with broken rock from the city [illegible] and the council then adjourned.

Mayor's Veto.

The resolution passed by the council on November 6, instructing the street department to grade and gravel Las Vegas street, was returned with the mayor's veto, owing to the excessive cost of the work, the estimate being $965.

With reference to the planking of the Bear Creek bridge the street commissioner reported that the work could be done for $600. The entire matter was referred to the street committee, Alderman Tucker, city engineer, attorney and street commissioner to discuss with the county commissioners.

Commissioner A. W. Gray was directed to remove two large cottonwood trees from the center of Walnut street near Harrison avenue.

In order to discuss matters in connection with the water department the council went into executive session, which lasted about an hour.

When the council reconvened in regular session Chairman Tucker presented the report of the committee which investigated the removal of Short Line offices from this city. Owing to the late hour, the council decided to postpone the reading of the report until the next regular meeting.

New Fire Apparatus.

Alderman Albin, as chairman of the fire committee, announced that by the exercise of economy the fire chief had saved enough money in his appropriation to pay for the purchase of a new aerial ladder, and recommended that the city buy the Seagrave aerial truck at a cost of $4,375. Julius Pearse, the agent for the Seagrave company, presented photographs of the truck and explained that it would reach several feet above the highest building in the city. He invited the council to accompany him to Pueblo where he recently installed a truck similar to the one proposed here, and the council voted to visit Pueblo and consider the question at the next regular meeting.

The petition of George J. Gillespie for a liquor license at 15 East Huerfano street, was read and on motion of Alderman Verner the license was granted upon the same terms and conditions as other licenses. The vote was as follows: Yeas—Aldermen Tucker, McCaffery, Hosman, Albin and Verner. Nays—Aldermen Seldomridge, Hill and Holden.

An ordinance to vacate a portion of West Dale street in block K to the Monument Valley park was introduced by Alderman Holden, read and ordered sent to the printer.

On motion of Alderman Tucker the allowance of $125 for November for the Associated Charities was ordered paid.

The bill of Mrs. Ida C. Hutson, dis-

MAYOR HALL TO BE ASKED TO TESTIFY

DURING THE INVESTIGATION OF HYDRO-ELECTRIC COMPANY SAYS ALDERMAN ALBIN.

Shortly prior to the adjournment of the city council last evening Mayor H. [illegible] Hall called for a report from the special committee appointed to investigate the operations of the Pike's Peak Hydro-Electric company, which he understood had been promised for this session by Chairman Carl Albin.

As the mayor remained standing a few moments after finishing his remarks, Alderman Albin remarked: "If the mayor has finished, and will resume his seat, I will explain." When the mayor resumed his seat, the chairman continued:

"Aldermen Holden and Verner have become so greatly interested that they desire further time to investigate the matter before making any report, and while I am now ready to report so far as I am concerned, it would undoubtedly be better if the committee is granted further time."

Mayor Hall—"There is one thing I desire to call to the attention of the committee [illegible] that it be investigated and sifted thoroughly, and that is a statement published a few days ago, credited to the chairman of the fire committee. The statement said in substance that the relations between the city and the Hydro-Electric company were such that upon several occasions the city had been practically without water in its reservoirs, and in case of fire, the city would have suffered a disastrous loss."

Alderman Albin—"That's right, I want it sifted thoroughly too, and when the time comes I shall demand a public investigation with witnesses testifying under oath, and you, Mr. Mayor, will be called to the witness stand."

Alderman Hill—"I know there have been times when I was a clerk in the water department that the city did not have sufficient water in its Mesa reservoirs to extinguish a heavy fire."

Alderman Seldomridge—"That was under the last administration, was it not, before you took your seat as alderman?"

The committee was granted until the next regular meeting of the city council to formulate its report.

CIRCUMSTANCES WERE SUSPICIOUS

ONE HAD BIG REVOLVER AND ANOTHER HAS SERVED A SENTENCE FOR BURGLARY.

Patrolman Clyde McReynolds probably prevented the robbery of [illegible] pharmacy [illegible] last night by the arrest of two men who were prowling about the corner of Yale and North Weber. He saw them peering into the rear of the drug store and was shadowing them when the flash of a passing automobile's headlight revealed his presence and the men separated. McReynolds intercepted them. They gave their names as Frank Manley and W. E. Mills. McReynolds took from Manley a [illegible] calibre revolver of Belgian make and a large dark blue silk handkerchief. The latter Manley held in his hand when arrested. He also had an express receipt which showed that he had shipped to Denver yesterday a suit case. He and Mills protested that they were on their way to Denver and were going to Roswell to catch a freight. No freights stop at Roswell on either road. Mills resides at 212 South Cascade avenue. He has a family. He has served a three years' sentence at Canon City for burglary.

VIOLET AYRES GETS HUSBAND

INHERITED FORTUNE RECENTLY WHILE LIVING HERE AND GETS HOME OF HER OWN.

Miss Violet E. McCall, who, while engaged as a domestic at the home of Dr. W. C. Ogden last August, received word that she had been left a fortune by the death of an uncle in Missouri, was married yesterday in Denver. Arlington R. Hubbard, who gave his residence as Colorado Springs but whose identity could not be learned last night, is the lucky man who will help Miss McCall enjoy her fortune.

When Miss McCall inherited her fortune last summer she was asked by a newspaper man if she intended to be married. "No, I don't think I will," she answered, "because the man would be after my money and not after me. However, if I find a man who really loves me and is not just after my fortune, I may get married."

A month ago Miss McCall left her employment with Dr. Ogden and went to her old home in Missouri. This was the last heard of her until yesterday, when she and A. R. Hubbard appeared at the office of the county clerk of Denver and applied for a marriage license. The license was made out in the name of Violet E. Ayres, instead of McCall. Ayres was her maiden name but she was afterwards adopted by a Mr. and Mrs. McCall and went by the latter name in Colorado Springs.

PEARSON'S MINSTRELS OF COLORADO COLLEGE

For some time the members of Pearsons Literary society have been working up a minstrel show. Mr. Allard Jeancon, who so successfully trained the comic opera, "Rip Van Winkle," given two years ago exclusively by Pearsons, is directing the minstrels. He composed the music for the afterpiece, which rings in catchy choruses. Further introduction of Mr. Jeancon to Colorado Springs is unnecessary. His ability in theatrical productions, especially those of a musical nature, is without an equal in the city. The first part of the performance, the minstrel circle, will be an excellent program of sweet singers and jolly jokers. The entire evening promises to be a delightfully entertaining one.

NEW PLAN FOR FUNDS OF CITY

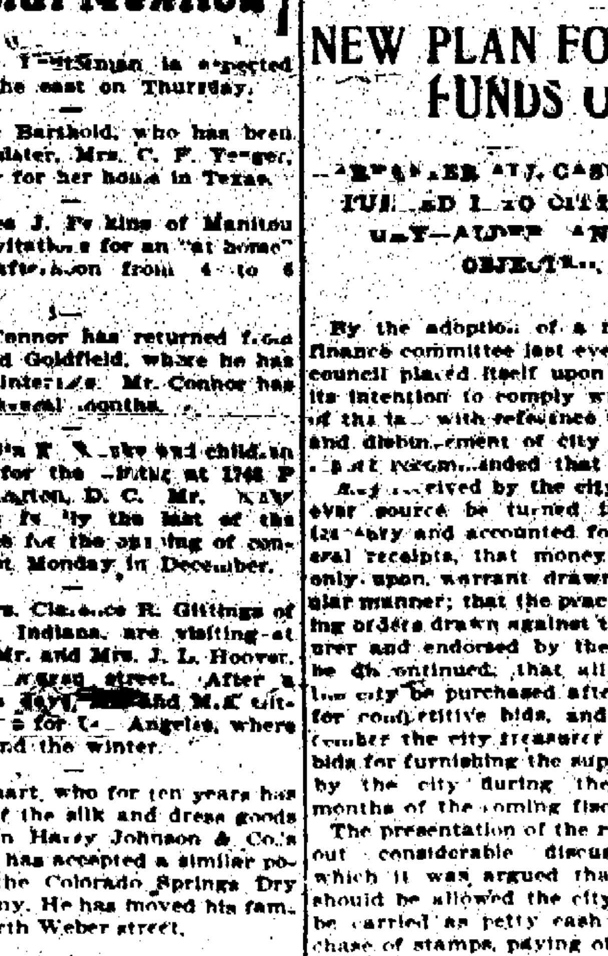

[illegible] WILL BE [illegible] — ALDERMAN ALBIN OBJECTS.

By the adoption of a report of the finance committee last evening the city council placed itself upon record as to its intention to comply with the letter of the law with reference to the receipt and disbursement of city money. The report recommended that hereafter all money received by the city from whatever source be turned into the city treasury and accounted for in the general receipts, that money be paid out only upon warrant drawn in the regular manner; that the practice of honoring orders drawn against the city treasurer and endorsed by the city auditor be discontinued; that all supplies for the city be purchased after advertising for competitive bids, and that in December the city treasurer advertise for bids for furnishing the supplies required by the city during the first three months of the coming fiscal year.

The presentation of the report brought out considerable discussion during which it was argued that an amount should be allowed the city treasurer to be carried as petty cash for the purchase of stamps, paying of express, etc. It was argued that all expenditures, under the law, are required to be made by warrant after being duly allowed by the council, and as the council held a session every two weeks it would work no hardship for any creditor of the city to wait that length of time for his money.

The report was adopted with but one member, Alderman Albin, voting against it. The alderman from the Sixth ward explained that he desired to consult with the treasurer before voting for the adoption of the report.

MOST AWFUL SKIN HUMOR

Covering Entire Body. Shed Handfuls of Scales Nightly. Skin Cracked Open. Suffering Dreadful. Doctors Fail. Prayed for Death. Sister says, "Won't give up. Try Cuticura." Eureka! Instant Relief [illegible] in 6 Weeks Completely

CURED BY CUTICURA

I have been afflicted for twenty years with an obstinate skin disease, called by some M. D's. psoriasis, and others leprosy, commencing on my scalp; and in spite of all I could do, with the help of the most skilful doctors, it slowly but surely extended until a year ago this winter it covered my entire person in the form of dry scales. For the last three years I have been unable to do any labor, and suffering intensely all the time. Every morning there would be nearly a dustpanful of scales taken from the sheet on my bed, some of them half as large as the envelope containing this letter. In the latter part of winter my skin commenced cracking open. I tried everything, almost, that could be thought of, without any relief. The [illegible] of June I started [illegible] in hopes I could reach the Hot Springs. I reached Detroit and was so low I thought I should have to go to the hospital, but finally got as far as Lansing, Mich., where I had a sister living. One Dr. [illegible] treated me about two weeks, but did me no good. All thought I had but a short time to live. I earnestly prayed to die. Cracked through the skin all over my back, across my ribs, arms, hands, limbs; feet badly swollen; toe-nails came off; finger-nails dead and hard as a bone; hair dead, dry, and lifeless as old straw. O my God! how I did suffer.

My sister, Mrs. E. H. Davis, had a small part of a box of Cuticura in the house. She wouldn't give up; said, "We will try Cuticura." Some was applied on one hand and arm. Eureka! there was relief; stopped the terrible burning sensation from the word go. They immediately got Cuticura Resolvent, Ointment, and Soap. I commenced by taking one tablespoonful of Cuticura Resolvent three times a day after meals; had a bath once a day, water about blood heat; used Cuticura Soap freely; applied Cuticura Ointment morning and evening. Result: returned to my home in just six weeks from the time I left, and my skin as smooth as this sheet of paper. (signed) HIRAM E. CARPENTER, Henderson, Jefferson Co., N. Y.

SENATOR BURTON'S CASE.

THE second trial of Senator J. Ralph Burton, of Kansas, charged with using his influence as a Senator to improperly influence certain matters pending before the Postoffice Department, is especially interesting because of the recent conviction of Senator Mitchell on a criminal charge. Burton's first trial occurred so long ago that the particulars have slipped the public mind. It was charged that he accepted compensation from the Rialto Grain & Securities Company, of St. Louis, to use his influence in a case which the company had before the Postoffice Department. Burton was convicted on the first indictment in March, 1904, but appealed to the United States Supreme Court and the case was reversed.

An Associated Press dispatch states that a new indictment was returned last spring and about a month ago demurrers filed by counsel for the defense were sustained by United States Circuit Judge Vandeventer, who immediately ordered that a new Federal grand jury be summoned to consider the evidence in possession of the United States District Attorney. On November 10, eight days before the statute of limitations became effective, the third and present indictment against Burton was returned. Demurrers to this and a plea in bar filed by Burton's attorneys were overruled by Judge Vandeventer and the case was ordered to trial.

The reversal of the first conviction by the Federal Supreme Court makes it impossible now to say that Burton is guilty, but it certainly is not beside the point to comment on the impropriety of a Congressman or other Federal official allowing himself to become entangled in questionable relations. A short time before the Burton case came to light public attention was centered on Senator Dietrich of Nebraska, who was accused of improper practices. Dietrich was tried and escaped on a technicality. His "vindication" was never complete, and to this day most people who followed the case probably believe he is guilty.

Later came the revelations concerning Senator Mitchell's connection with Pacific Coast land frauds. Mitchell was convicted and sentenced to imprisonment, and now Representative Williamson, also of Oregon, has met a similar fate. Of the four Congressmen mentioned, two have been convicted: one was "whitewashed," and the fourth is now on trial for the second time after having once been convicted.

Burton may be innocent of the offense charged, but he has been caught in very shady company, and enough is positively known of his derelictions to make it certain that he is not a fit man to sit in the United States Senate. Federal officials know perfectly well what they can and can not do without violating the law or the proprieties, and the only safe course for them, as for other people, is to remain honest and attend to their duties and nothing else.

MONEY NEEDED FOR THE CANAL.

ONE of the first subjects with which the next session of Congress will have to deal is the emergency appropriation for the Panama Canal Commission. In June, 1902, an appropriation of $10,000,000 was made, and this has been sufficient to carry the preparatory work thus far. At present the unexpended balance in the Treasury to the Commission's account is less than $1,000,000, and unless more money is immediately forthcoming work on the big ditch will have to stop. At the present rate of expenditure the balance will not hold out until an emergency appropriation can be made, so the Commission has suspended the payment of bills for material, and will use the money on hand for salaries and incidentals.

A report of the expenditures made up to June 30, last, shows that $4,009,543 had been paid out, but the work is now fairly under way, and since that time more than $5,000,000 has been spent. Of the amounts included in the $4,009,543, the largest item was for material and supplies purchased, $1,087,000. Construction work required $694,000; salaries, $423,000; general expenses, $158,060, while $208,000 was spent for sanitation and $169,000 for hospitals. The sanitary work has been so efficiently done that since September 29 not a single case of yellow fever has been reported. Waterworks, sewers and roads required an outlay of $136,000; police and prisons, $67,000, and repairs to equipment and buildings, $348,000. These figures cover a period of three years.

The law provides that expenditures shall not be made in excess of appropriations, so, unless Congress immediately supplies more money for the Commission it has no alternative but to stop work. Secretary Taft says there is not enough money on hand to provide for the December payroll, which will amount to $600,000. The sum asked of Congress for the emergency appropriation, $16,000,000, is expected to keep the work going until the end of the fiscal year, which terminates June 30, 1907. This money certainly ought to be provided without delay, but it is more than likely that opposition will arise in Congress.

Secretary Taft anticipated this opposition in his speech at St. Louis last Saturday night, when he said that while it is proper that Congress should scrutinize the expenditures closely in order to prevent graft and mismanagement, there should be no hesitancy in providing the funds necessary to keep the work going. Thirteen thousand men are now at work on the Isthmus, and to allow them to remain idle for a few days or weeks while Congress discussed an emergency appropriation would be a costly piece of folly. There will be time for discussion after the money has been voted.

TOO LATE TO CONTEST.

IT is a poor time to win a game after the game is played. At a meeting in Denver last night of the directors of the Colorado Intercollegiate Football League, the State School of Mines football team entered a protest against the decision of the officials in disallowing the touchdown made against the Tigers last Saturday in the first few minutes of the game and filed a claim for the championship on that basis. The directors of the league were in session until after midnight, and, because of the large volume of other business to be disposed of, the matter of the protest had not been formally considered up to that time.

Both officials of the Tiger-Miner game ruled that the ball was stolen by Nordenholt after it was declared down, and the fact that hardly a word of protest was entered at that time against returning the ball to the point of scrimmage, and that Nordenholt himself took the whole affair as a joke, as evidenced by his action in smiling when the referee approached the Tiger goal, and turning to give the crowd of spectators behind him "the wink," was an open confession that the play was in violation of the rules of the game. The visitors protested vigorously dozens of times at some natural infringements of the rules, such as "off side" and "holding," but the touchdown was so manifestly a "steal" that even the captain of the Golden team took it as a matter of course that the play was disallowed.

It remains yet to be seen whether the State School of Mines players will persist in their attempt to establish a victory over the Tigers. But if they do the sportmanship with which they are now credited will be greatly depreciated. The fact is that the Miners were "touted" by the over-wise Denver papers as 3 to 1 favorites over the Tigers, and the fact that the Colorado College eleven proved their equal in almost every phase of the game, and their superior in some of the finer points, was a bitter pill to swallow. The Tigers, although unable to score on their opponents, also kept the visitors from scoring, and the game resulted in a 0 to 0 contest. This in itself is a virtual victory for the local eleven, considering that it played against great odds as regards weight and was not figured in the running except by local friends and supporters.

However, the Miners acknowledged after Saturday's game that they had met their equals, and the man who conceived the idea of trying to win the game on a technicality after it is all over does not necessarily represent the will of the whole eleven. And even if he does, there is not the slightest probability that the protest will be sustained.

The logical thing to do is to play off the tie on neutral grounds. If this cannot be done it is better to let the state championship go undecided.

The Telegraph, which affects to print "all the news the day it happens," yesterday contained an account hoarly a column and a half long of the football game between Colorado College and the School of Mines, played last Saturday. Just why that paper should devote so much space to warmed-up news, forty-eight hours old, is not quite clear, as everybody interested in the game had already read the account of it in The Sunday Gazette.

The De Beers Syndicate, which controls the South African diamond mines, has advanced the price of diamonds 5 per cent, and threatens another raise before the first of January. One of the beauties of this monopoly is seen in the fact that if it did not exist the price of diamonds would drop so low that they would no longer be ranked as precious stones.

A few days ago the evening "organ of the people" worked itself into a fine frenzy because a Denver paper printed a fake picture of a Colorado Springs girl. Yesterday that same "organ of the people" printed a picture of the Empress Haruko, of Japan, labeled "Crown Princess Sadako, of Japan." Fake? Oh, no, merely a mistake. Faking is only done by the other fellows.

James H. Hyde told the investigating committee that he worked two years without a salary. There doesn't seem to be any doubt, however, that he has since got even with the company.

Press Opinions

A PRESIDENT OF THE PEOPLE.

A McCutcheon cartoon in the Chicago Tribune represents the president and a typical southerner, characterized as the Solid South, sitting under a bamboo tree, with this quotation from the Solid South: "Well, sah, Cunnel Roosevelt, you all suttinly has powerful persuadin' ways. I keeps forgettin' that you ah a Republican, but I reckon you ah a Democrat on your mother's side." The point of this picture is one of the most penetrating commentaries that could be made on President Roosevelt's relations to the whole country. The fact is that when a public official fearlessly, aggressively and independently serves the people, the average man does not remember, at least he does not try to remember, whether he is a Democrat or a Republican. He only knows and rejoices that he is for the people, not for a class, not for a section, but for the city or the state or the country, according to the scope of his office.—Kansas City Times.

CONSIDER THE SOURCE.

With avidity the railroad advocates seize upon every forlorn excuse to claim that the president is backing down in his attitude toward railroad legislation. The fact that in his Raleigh speech the president spoke of an "administrative body" instead of "interstate commerce commission" is sufficient to draw from President Spencer of the Southern railroad the opinion that the president has given up his original purpose, whereas in fact he has distinctly insisted that he has not. When the president changes his mind on the railroad question the information will come from some other source than his opponents. Experience has proved that it will be wise and and in fact necessary to take any statements along this line with a grain of salt when they come from men or newspapers who are identified with the railroads in the present contest.—Nebraska State Journal.

MRS. FIELDS WAS FULL.

The Eye vehicle drew up in front of Mrs. Mary E. Fields' hospitable home, five miles west of town, last Sunday afternoon. The weather was damp and chilly, but all was warmth and cheerfulness inside. Mrs. Fields, who will be 88 the 9th of next December, was full of her little jokes, and Mrs. Manda Scott, her sister, who is 77 years of age, was present and is also a good entertainer. The Misses Helen, May and Sallie Fields are wide awake to all the interests of the day, and besides being fine home makers, know how to make a 672½ acre farm pay. We were presented with a beautiful bunch of roses still blooming in their yard.—Clinton (Mo.) Eye.

Duden, who owns one of the best farms in Henry county and his handsome home commands a fine view from the Calhoun road, on route 11, let the light of his happy countenance illuminate this office Thursday, and had the date on the great weekly set to Aug. 1906. Mr. Duden attends strictly to business and very seldom comes to town and that accounts for the thrifty condition of his farm.—Clinton (Mo.) Eye.

The HISTORY OF PHOTOGRAPHY

Valuable and Interesting Exhibit Which Is Being Assembled in the National Museum—Development of the Modern Picture From the Daguerreotype to its Present Type.

AWAY up in one of the corner pavilions of the National museum, where the public does not go because they are not allowed, and where they probably would not see anything, they [illegible] if they did go, there is slowly growing what will be a most interesting exhibit when it is all assembled. It is nothing less than a historic exhibit of the art of photography from its beginning up to date.

When the exhibit will be put up for the public is a question. There is no room for it in the halls just now. Possibly it will have to wait till that indefinite epoch for which all of the curators are waiting, "when we get into the new building." Next to the loss it is now a most interesting collection that has cost T. W. Smillie, projector, a great deal of work and will mean more work before it is finally landed in the cases. But it is a thing that will appeal to everybody who has ever snapped a camera and it probably will be the only collection of its sort extant.

The Finest Daguerreotypes.

There is in the collection one of the finest daguerreotypes ever taken. It is about a five by seven picture, simply a sitting portrait of a man in the conventional dress of the first quarter of the last century. There are several daguerreotypes of Daguerre himself, very good work, but not so good as the other portrait mentioned.

One of the gems of this early part of the collection, however, is a thing that probably cannot be duplicated in any exhibit in the world. It is a panorama daguerreotype, five plates of about four by five each of the harbor at San Francisco in 1852. The picture was taken at a time when there were 1,400 vessels rotting in the harbor because their crews had deserted to go to the gold diggings.

The picture was made for the owner of one of the vessels so caught. He had sent out a ship from the Atlantic coast and the crew had deserted, leaving her in the harbor. He afterward manned another vessel to go out and bring home the first boat, but her crew deserted even before they had brought out the cargo, and he was left with two helpless boats on his hands. Both were finally a total loss.

When the pictures first came to the museum they were almost indistinguishable, some of the plates nearly black. Mr. Smillie has cleaned them however, it is useless to say how, for though there are doubtless many old daguerreotypes in the country whose owners would like to have them cleaned it is a work of art to restore one and an amateur would infallibly ruin any picture he touched.

The First Photograph.

There is another stage in the development of the modern picture, represented by the first photograph proper ever taken. It is a copy of an old engraving and was subjected to a six-hour exposure. The plate was coated with asphalt and developed with oil of lavender and petroleum. The result was a black and white print about half way between a crude half-tone and a wood engraving.

Between this stage and the present type of photograph, there is not much apparent difference. The real difference lies in methods that have taken photography out of the hands of the old "black-fingered" camera experts and put it within reach of anyone who chooses to take a little trouble to master the art. None the less, there are interesting steps shown in the development that even the layman can appreciate.

The earlier photographic negatives were made of translucent paper. Some of the first examples shown are rather crude. But later there are paper negatives practically as good as those produced on glass today, but of course, they were made at an infinitely greater expenditure of labor. There are also various means of displaying the photographs. Some of the stereopticons which were once such a fashionable parlor ornament reach back to the days of daguerreotypes, and there is a very interesting collection of stereopticon daguerreotypes, one of the few still in existence.

Carbon Process Not New.

It is shown in the collection that the carbon process, so called, is no new development. The substance was first used in an attempt to get a permanent print, something more durable than the old silver print. Many of these silver prints faded out in the earlier days of photography, but there are in the collection many silver prints, some of them as much as 45 years old, that are as good now as they were the day they were taken. This indicates that the fading was due more to improper treatment than to the medium employed. None the less carbon was worked in extensively and there are in the collection all sorts of carbon work from the first crude asphalt print referred down to the most artistic modern development of the process.

One very interesting step in photographic development is photographing on linen. It was developed by one of Mr. Smillie's assistants in the museum and is a platinum process. The linen was first sized with albumen and the platinotype made on it just as on sensitive paper. The inventor of the process took it to New York and a big store there arranged to get out a million or so dollies and sets of table linen decorated after that fashion. Some of the results were beautiful, and it was found that they would stand washing excellently. But like so many good inventions the pictured linen was no sooner put on the market than it was copied closely by wood cuts printed directly on linen and cotton. The new development was almost as good, though, of course, not so artistic. But it was cheap and quick, which was the chief point. The market was flooded with cheap pictured linen and the more expensive actual photographs died a natural death. That is only a sample of some of the stories told by the exhibit.

Artistic Results of Simple Process.

Many interesting processes of one sort and another are shown, and some of the most interesting and artistic prints in the collection are by the simplest printing process ever devised. They are a series of views taken by an English army officer in Egypt. The printing is done on home-made sensitive paper, common drawing paper having been used. The prints are in a soft sepia and look more like wash drawings than they do like photographs. They were wanted some time ago for an exhibition, and their owner simply mounted them on big backgrounds made of soft blotting paper. This was another homely device, but it was extremely effective and greatly enhanced the beauty of the prints.

"Art photography," so called, is usually looked upon as a development of the past few years, but the exhibit shows that it has been in existence for almost half a century. Rejland was the father of the art, and he is represented in the collection by some very creditable pieces of work dating back 45 years. From a modern standpoint, most of his pictures are rough and unsatisfying, but they were a vast improvement over the conventional portraits of the time, and they are both curious and interesting in their quaint dress and groupings. All of them are old "silver prints," made with home sensitized paper, and most of the cameras then took long exposures compared to the modern studio lense.

Matched against these earlier examples of art work, it is interesting to compare the products of the late Mr. Robinson of London; Margarette Cameron, and to take a pair of conscientious Washington workers, Frances Benjamin Johnson and Miss Sarah Eddy. This modern work runs through all the phases of silver, platinum and carbon processes, with examples of big negatives worked up with the brush and of prints coaxed and retarded in different portions for the sake of light effects, making the mechanical work of the photographer take rank with the products of the artist in brush and colors.

One of the older devices, however, for portrait work has never been surpassed. That is a lense that by a slight separation of the glasses, gives a picture that has not the microscopic sharpness of a photograph and at the same time preserves the distinctness of focus. Its effects are considerably better than the modern practice of throwing a picture out of focus and making it "fuzzy" for the sake of the supposedly artistic result.

Of course, the development of color photography is shown in the exhibit. It may be said that this art has not yet reached a satisfactory stage of development. There are a number of processes the three-color photography, lined screen work, and several other methods that are serviceable in producing lantern slides of still life objects, but most of them take long exposures, and are both expensive to mature and not altogether satisfactory after they are done.

Two samples in the collection represent the latest work in the color line, and are taken by a single direct exposure. The process is comparatively simple, and involves the use of a mercury reflector behind the negative. This breaks the light waves up into half lengths, and produces a picture in almost, but not quite, the natural colors. It is the invention of Mr. Littman. One of the interesting points about it was that he worked out the method theoretically, and succeeded in making a color picture the first time he tried it and without further experiment.

These pictures, however, have to be held at a certain angle to the light in order to bring out the colors. For the benefit of the general public, they are mounted under a thin prism of glass that conveys the light to them at the right angle. Still, this process, while it is a step in the right direction, inasmuch as it gives the color photograph by a single exposure, is not yet a practical process. It takes an exposure of 20 minutes for a still life group, and is, of course, out of the question for portrait work.

The historical exhibit, when finished, will be a large one, and it will take a good deal of room and good light to house it properly. It is merely recreative work with Mr. Smillie, who is deeply interested in it, and is doing it in the intervals of his regular employment as the museum photographer. But when it is finished, it will form a most attractive feature of the many exhibits in the great national wonder house.—Washington Star.

SPLENDID CONCERTS BY THE KILTIES BAND

"Ma hame is whaur the heather blooms" was the thought uppermost in the mind of every Scotchman who heard the splendid concerts given yesterday by the Canadian Kilties band. While the audiences were small, yet they were roused to a high pitch of enthusiasm at times, especially by the band's really fine interpretation of Scottish airs, such as "Robert Bruce" and "Bonnie Dundee of Scotland." The peculiar quality of Scotch music with its varying tempos and characteristic melodies (like a Scotch musician properly to bring out, and in this respect the band excelled.

As to the other ensemble numbers, it is difficult to judge, for the standards in the United States are not the same as those in British dominions. While the Kilties organization is undoubtedly well balanced, and performs with great precision of attack and fineness of phrasing, its tonale is not the equal of Creatore's band in artistic expression. Conductor Gilliland at no time permits the blare of the brass instruments to drown the reeds as Sousa does. The latter does not seem to know what crescendos and diminuendos mean in band music, but Mr. Gilliland does, and he obtained some splendid effects from them in his overtitle numbers.

The Allan Johnstone Group in Scottish reel and Irish jig were hits on both programs, as was the famous sword dance in Highland costume by Togi Johnstone. The performers were compelled to respond to several encores. One of the distinctive features of the matinee was Mr. H. V. Mercer's rendition of the fugue solo, "Mary of Argyle." The bagpipes were, of course, a novelty, but properly to be appreciated they ought to be heard from a distance across a small body of water, as they are frequently heard in Scotland.

ASKS $5,000 ALIMONY IN CROSS COMPLAINT

The divorce case of James W. Coffey vs. Kate H. Coffey, upon the ground of cruelty, has been transferred from the county court to the district court. In her cross-complaint Mrs. Coffey admits the marriage of the couple at Boulder, Colo., in August, 1883, but denies the charges of cruelty made against her by the plaintiff. She charges Mr. Coffey with cruelty in the use of vile and abusive language to the defendant and her three daughters, and prays the court to award her alimony in the sum of not less than $5,000. In answer to this cross-complaint Mr. Coffey submits an itemized statement of his financial condition and denies his ability to pay the amount of alimony demanded. He places his assests at $4,575 and fixes his indebtedness at $4,404, not including 142,000 shares of stock of doubtful value, but which he requests the court to divide equally between the plaintiff and defendant.

The Colorado Midland Railway company filed a motion in the district court yesterday to compel Frank T. Hughes to make his complaint more specific as to how he became a passenger and further information as to his alleged insanity.

The Assurance Savings and Loan association filed foreclosure suit in the district court yesterday against Charles W. Wingfield et al., to recover $704 and interest at 8 per cent per annum from April 1, 1904, alleged to be due and unpaid upon a loan made by the plaintiff. The complaint asks the foreclosure of the trust deed which it holds upon lots 5 and 6, block 267, Bott's third addition to Colorado City.

RESPONDED TO LINCOLN'S CALL

BRIGADIER GENERAL M'CASKEY BECAME SOLDIER IN '61 AND HAS RISEN FROM THE RANKS.

Brigadier General William S. McCaskey and wife are guests at the Antlers. General McCaskey is in command of the Department of Colorado. He is by no means the oldest man in the army, but only one other officer now in the service has been a soldier as long as he. That man is Colonel J. S. Regan of the Ninth Infantry.

General McCaskey is one of the few officers now living to arrive at his high commission from the ranks. He responded to the first call of President Lincoln in April, '61, joining the First Pennsylvania volunteers. Of the 75,000 men who answered that call only three are now soldiers. General McCaskey was then something more than 17 years of age. Three months later he joined the Seventy-ninth Pennsylvania. At 19 years of age he became a captain and commanded a regiment in action.

After being mustered out of the army at the close of the war he was given a commission as first lieutenant in the regular army, and has been in active service ever since. He was called to the United States from the Philippines to take his present post last May and in the few months of his residence here he has become exceedingly popular, both in army and civilian social circles of the department. Although every inch a soldier he is noted as one of the most affable men in the army. He was a close admirer of General Otis and is confident that history will vindicate that yet much maligned officer in the eyes of the world.

THOS. F. BURNS IS CUPID'S CAPTIVE

WILL LEAD MISS ZULA M. RUSSELL TO THE MARRIAGE ALTAR EARLY IN DECEMBER.

Thomas F. Burns, mine owner, sportsman and clubman, is to enter the ranks of the benedicts. News of his engagement to Miss Zula M. Russell leaked out yesterday and a faint but blushing acknowledgment of the romance was made last evening by the bride-to-be.

Mr. Burns is one of the best known men in Colorado Springs. As treasurer of the Portland Gold Mining company he holds a prominent position in local mining circles. He is a member of the Elks' club and of the El Paso club and was for a number of years owner of the Colorado Springs Baseball club of the Western league.

Miss Russell is connected with the Wilbur Suit company and is one of the most popular young women of the city. She came to Colorado Springs 12 years ago from the New England states and resides with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Sinclair at 1604 North Tejon street.

Although the date of the wedding has not yet been set it is understood that the ceremony will take place in the early part of December.

BATTLE ROYAL TODAY OVER CHOICE OF GRAND FOREMAN

Contest Said to Hinge on Naming of Committee on Credentials---Yeomen Factions May Unite on Third Man---Reception This Evening.

Yeomanry political javelins will be hurled this afternoon, between the factions fighting over the election of a grand foreman. The first session of the quadrennial conclave will be held in the criminal room at the county court house, beginning at 1 o'clock.

Sunday night the political caldron was kept seething until 4 a. m. yesterday morning and Monday's kept the leaders and lieutenants of both factions busy until after 3 o'clock this morning.

J. P. DANSER,

Chairman of Committee of Arrangements, Who Has Directed the Entertainment of Visiting Members of the Brotherhood of American Yeomen.

While all of the leaders have been hard at work ever since arriving in Colorado Springs Saturday, there appears to be little, if any, change in the complexion of things political. The Koch faction claims everything, hands down; the Paul followers say victory already is perched upon their banners, and those who disclaim affiliation with either faction assert that the movement for a third man and complete harmony has irresistible force.

Numerous attempts are being made to name a man satisfactory to both the Koch and Paul factions, and unless this is done before the conclave gets down to business at 3 o'clock this afternoon, the contest for supremacy will begin immediately after order is called. In fact, it is rumored that if a compromise is not effected, an attempt will be made to prevent Koch, who as grand foreman will preside, from occupying the chair. Should Koch resign his place, O. G. Magoon, grand master of ceremonies, would be presiding officer, and it is said he is one of Koch's strongest supporters, which would materially alter the state of affairs.

The whole contest, it is said, hinges upon the decision of the committee on credentials. If the committee decides that the Koch contesting delegation from Iowa is entitled to recognition, Mr. Koch's chances for the grand foremanship are correspondingly strong, and if the Paul faction delegates are seated, his chances will be proportionately strengthened. If the Koch crowd is able to use its official power in the appointment of a committee which will seat the Koch Iowa delegation, it appears that this faction would have the lead over the Paul contingent. But the conservative members believe this should not be done for the best welfare of the order, and that a third man should be chosen.

Last night many of the Yeoman went to Colorado City, where as guests of Pike's Peak homestead No. 112 they witnessed the exemplification of the secret work by the degree team.

Notwithstanding the political turmoil, all the delegates have a good word for Colorado Springs and the royal reception accorded them. J. S. Danser, chairman of the committee on arrangements, is largely to be credited for the elaborate preparations. He also is a member of the board of directors of the order, in which position he has made an enviable record.

Tonight a reception will be given at the Alamo in honor of the visiting Yeomen. Tomorrow night Pike's Peak homestead will entertain in Colorado City and Thursday night a banquet will be given at the Alamo.

CLIMBING CLUB ON WAR PATH

WILL DO ITS UTMOST TO STOP THE DESTRUCTION OF FORESTS FOR CHRISTMAS TREES.

The Pike's Peak Climbing club will take action in the matter of forest destruction for Christmas trees. The club will have an important meeting Friday evening, November 24, at 8 o'clock at the home of Herbert Skinner, 1835 North Nevada avenue. The object of the meeting at this time is to discuss the advisability of enlarging the scope of the club and include, among other things, the protection of forests of the region, especially with regard to destruction for the sake of Christmas trees. To add to the interest of the meeting E. R. Warren has kindly consented to bring specimens of the fauna of Colorado from his fine collection for the inspection of the members. All members and others interested in the club are cordially invited to attend.

Dangers of a Cold.

It is agreed by all the best and most progressive physicians that at this season of the year one of the most unfailing preventives against contagious diseases such as diphtheria, scarlet fever and even consumption, is to avoid colds, or, having contracted them, to combat them assiduously and intelligently. Colds prepare the system for the reception and development of the germs of these diseases. The best treatment for a cold is to give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is safe and sure and is equally valuable for children and adults. It has become famous for its cures of this disease and can always be depended upon. For sale by all druggists.

IS IN RACE FOR NATIONAL HOME

MEMBER OF RAILWAY TRAINMEN'S COMMITTEE IN LETTER FAVORS COLORADO SPRINGS.

Colorado Springs is still in the race for the Railway Trainmen's national home.

D. C. MacWatters, general passenger agent of the Short Line, received a letter yesterday from one of the members of the home committee in which the latter said that the location had not yet been decided upon and that the committee is still receiving offers from various cities. His letter was quite optimistic and contained several statements which showed that the writer was in favor of locating the home here.

The question of whether a home will be built at once, how much will be expended on the home and its general plans is now in the hands of the various lodges throughout the United States and Canada.

WILL DISCUSS CITY PARKING

ALDERMEN TO HOLD SPECIAL SESSION NEXT MONDAY. PROPERTY OWNERS INVITED.

An ordinance concerning sidewalks was introduced in the city council last night by Alderman A. M. Holden and was referred to the ordinance committee under the rules.

Several petitions from residents of the West side asking the reduction of the roadway to 35 feet were read and referred to the street committee. The petition from residents of North Fifth street was signed by owners of 700 feet of property out of a total of 1,200 feet. The petition from residents of Sixth street was signed by owners of 925 feet out of 1,200 feet of property along the street, while the petition from Fourth street was signed by owners of 1750 feet of property out of 1,800 feet. The Lincoln avenue petition was not so liberally signed, there being only 875 feet of property out of 2,000 feet represented upon the petition.

A petition signed by C. C. Hemming, W. M. Mast and others asking for the establishment of a parking district for North Cascade avenue was read and referred to the street committee and city engineer.

After some discussion the council decided to hold a special adjourned session of the city council next Monday evening for the sole purpose of discussing all matters pertaining to the parking scheme. At this adjourned meeting the new parking ordinance will be discussed and action will be taken upon all of the above petitions.

DIVIDENDS WILL REACH $93,500

PRODUCTION OF CRIPPLE CREEK MINES FOR NOVEMBER WILL BREAK MONTHLY RECORDS.

November dividends, paid by mining companies operating in the Cripple Creek district, will be lighter than any other month this year. The aggregate amount is $93,500, making the total dividend disbursements to date, $3,006,290.

It is said that the profits for November, however, will break the monthly records, for the tonnage will be heavier. The greater part of the profits, however, will go into company treasuries and to lessees. The leasing operators are making more money than ever before in the history of the Cripple Creek gold camp. As an illustration of the disposal of profits, the Elkton is putting out over $25,000 a month, but of this amount half goes to the stockholders in dividends and half is placed in the treasury. Dividends are payable this month as follows: Findley, $25,000; El Paso, $24,500; Elkton, $12,500; Granite, $12,500; Strong, $10,000; Gold Sovereign, $9,000.

CASE OF GOVERNMENT VERSUS CARD-PLAYERS

Unless Colorado's congressmen can secure a modification of the stringent orders now being issued by the postal authorities to the postmasters of many states, Colorado newspapers will no longer be allowed to herald to the world the fact that Mrs. Jones won a chafing dish playing bridge, euchre or high five at Mrs. Smith's party. The publication of the names of winners at social card parties is held to come under the ban of the anti-lottery law, and papers violating the rules in such states as have received notice to desist are liable to exclusion from the mails in case of violation. Colorado postmasters have received no instructions as yet.

EL PASO CONSOLIDATED AND LESSEES MAKING BIG OUTPUT

Special to The Gazette

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 20.—Good shipments are being made daily at the El Paso Consolidated property on Beacon hill both by the company and the lessees. The output averages about four carloads a day, while the grade is in the neighborhood of $4 in gold to the ton. That part of the product shipped by the company is of much better quality but the average of the property is reduced by shipments of Lessee Bernard from the dump, the grade of the latter being about $20 to the ton. Ore moved from the Lonaconing averages well with that marketed on company account. The dump lessee is averaging a carload a day, the Lonaconing lessee a car every other day and other lessees, including Dartnell on the south workings, from two to three cars a month. Thus it will be seen that the bulk of the material and that of highest grade is being shipped by the company. Most of it is coming from the big body in the northern part of the estate, although other parts are contributing. A crosscut has been driven 100 feet in the bottom level at a depth of 1,000 feet. Its objective is the C. K. and N. and Tillery shoots, both of which have been liberally responsive in other parts of the property. Crosscutting was recently interrupted to increase the depth of the sump. When this work is finished lateral exploration will soon be resumed. The big pump has not been installed, but probably will be in a short time.

LOS ANGELES' MINE AND MILL ACTIVE

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 20.—Operations at the Los Angeles mine and mill are proceeding at good speed. Ore is being broken between the 900-foot level and the surface from bodies of liberal width. Most of it is low grade and well oxydized. The mill is treating mineral at the rate of nearly seventy-five tons a day. The quantity handled is being steadily increased. It is believed that in the course of a few weeks the maximum 180 tons in twenty four hours will be attained. Ore of marketable quality is being mined and saved for shipment.

WARFORD MURDER TRIAL TO BE STARTED TODAY

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 20.—The trial of James Warford, charged with the murder of Ike Lebo at Goldfield a year ago, will begin in the district court tomorrow morning. Able counsel will represent both sides. The shooting was done on election day, 1904. Lebo and Chris Miller had words with Jim Warford, when the latter shot and killed both instantly. Warford alleges that both men drew guns before he attempted to shoot.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 20.—Suit for divorce was begun in the county court today by Maggie Roberts vs. Edward R. Roberts. They were married here March 6, 1903. She charges cruelty in that he threatened to kill her. She asks for alimony. He is a mine operator on Stratton's Independence.

NEW LAST DOLLAR ORE TO BE SHIPPED

Special to The Gazette

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 20.—Several carloads of ore have been broken at the scenes of the last strike in the Last Dollar mine on Bull hill and are likely to be marketed during the week. The material is of good appearance and leads to the belief that substantial returns will be realized from its treatment. The shoot found by Manager F. W. Fink on the third level has been exposed at widely separated points. In those localities its width is three feet and its content well above the average. Down on the tenth level Simonton and Moore, lessees, have raised fifty five or sixty feet toward the ninth, where they have exposed a body of fair width and good quality.

Favored by Both Parties

Republicans and Democrats alike praise Foley's Honey and Tar for coughs, colds and all throat and lung diseases as no other remedy can compare with it. It is safe and sure. F. T. Slater, merchant, 171 Main st., Gloucester, Mass., writes: "Foley's Honey and Tar cured me of a very bad cough which I had for three months though other remedies failed to benefit me. I can highly recommend it for coughs and colds." For sale by Hefley-Arcularius Drug Co.

JOHN B. FINN, JR., DEAD AFTER LONG ILLNESS

At noon yesterday John B. Finn, Jr., succumbed to the ravages of the white plague, and with his death goes one of the most popular young men of Colorado Springs. He came to this city from Cincinnati about three years ago, and because of his unusually jovial disposition he made many friends. His mother and a sister were present when death occurred, having arrived Saturday night.

Mr. Finn, who was 28 years of age, was the son of a wealthy wholesale hat manufacturer of Cincinnati, and until his health failed he was engaged in the business with his father.

The body will be taken to Cincinnati today by the mother and sister. The remains may be viewed at Hallett & Baker's undertaking parlors this morning at 9:30 o'clock.

AMUSEMENTS

IN OLD KENTUCKY.

In melodrama there are none so good as the old favorites, and Jacob Litt's production of "In Old Kentucky," though it has been seen here on former occasions, will undoubtedly attract the same generous support from all classes of theater goers when it comes to the Opera house on next Monday evening as on its previous visits. One does not have to go below the surface to discover the elements which make for the success of the piece. It is bountifully supplied with that homely sentiment which is never-failing in its power to appeal to the emotions. It has an abundance of comedy to lighten the shadows of the plot and it reveals a delightful romance of the Southland. The merry little coterie of pickaninnies always identified with the play will be strongly in evidence again. With their buck and wing dancing, their songs, their band music and their baton whirling, to say nothing of the many unrehearsed and extremely amusing antics that they nightly indulge in in the barnyard scene, they form an interesting and novel part of the performance. The play is always satisfactorily cast, but this season's company is said to be much better than any that has ever been identified with the play. A fine scenic production, all new, has been provided for this year's presentation. "In Old Kentucky" has attained the rare distinction of being the most popular American play since "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Denman Thompson made "The Old Homestead" famous by his own individual work in the leading role. "In Old Kentucky" has won its fame without the aid of any one particular player to give prestige to it—and it is thirteen years old now.

BIG FEATURE ACTS PACK THE EMPIRE.

Many high class features compose one of the strongest shows yet presented at the Empire, and the patrons crowded the house to its capacity last night and continued to make it ring with applause until the last curtain was lowered.

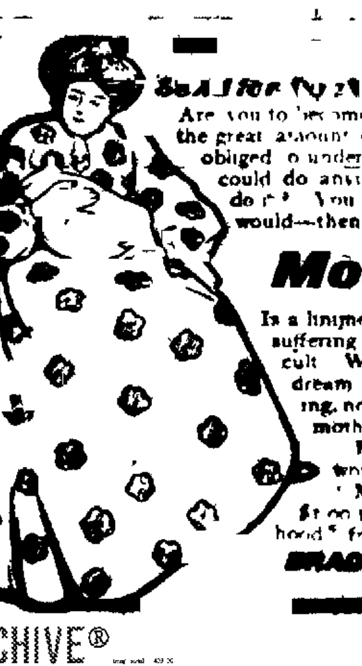

McGee & Poole are the feature act of the bill, in an exhibition of marksmanship and nerve seldom displayed. This is one of the most sensational acts on the American stage.

The little Midgets, though, won their share of the applause, for they are pleasing to all and clever in many different lines. The Lewis sisters are seen in neat singing and dancing specialties, and the Drowles, grotesque acrobats, are very clever and comical. Mr. Spees is singing "A Picnic for Two" in a way that tells the true story, and the motion pictures are "Rescued by Rover," one of the best pictures ever produced by the Edison factory.

THE COLLEGE WIDOW

The third act of "The College Widow," which comes to the Opera house next Tuesday, shows a portion of the grandstand during the Thanksgiving Day football game between Atwater and Bingham colleges, two inland institutions of learning which might be any other two in the United States, so pointed and apt is George Ade's satire. There is an old time rivalry between the two schools and the stand groans with an eager, jostling, cheering crowd. Flags waving, horns tooting, everyone excitedly following the struggle on the gridiron, the picture is a wonderful exemplification of stagecraft that carries the audience off its feet. The dramatic pitch is never lowered in this act. As the various characters describe the progress of the battle, the interest waxes intense until at the finish, when the victorious Atwater eleven appears begrimed and bespattered on the shoulders of the crowd, the audience finds itself cheering with the actors. It is a really wonderful bit of realism and had "The College Widow" nothing else to recommend it this scene alone would carry it to success. But Ade does not depend upon that act alone.

GRAINS DECLINE

Wheat, Corn and Oats Are Weak—Provisions Dull and Steady.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—[illegible] wheat market [illegible] opening the May option [illegible] at [illegible]. There was [illegible] encourage the bears. [illegible] home from Russia and from [illegible] Danube [illegible] shipments for the week [illegible] compared with [illegible] corresponding week of last year. The wheat market [illegible] was lower. The decline [illegible] attributed to the large Russia [illegible] and to the continued heavy [illegible] offerings from Manitoba. In [illegible] the movement continued heavy under favorable weather conditions and the volume of wheat was [illegible] to constantly increasing. During last week, according to the official [illegible] there was an increase of [illegible] bushels in the visible supply. Influenced by these considerations, commission houses and pit traders sold freely throughout the session and numerous longs [illegible] in the selling movement. The demand came principally from shorts. [illegible] which point was touched soon after the opening, the price of the May delivery gradually declined to 86⅞c. The market closed weak with May at 87⅛c.

Corn following wheat was weak. The market closed with prices practically at the lowest point of the day. May opened [illegible] lower at [illegible] sold up to [illegible] and then declined to [illegible]. Final quotations were at [illegible].

Sentiment in the oats pit was bearish. The market closed weak with prices at almost the lowest point of the day. May opened [illegible] lower at 32½c to 32⅜c, sold off to 32¼c and closed at 32¼c.

Provisions were dull and steady. Interest centered chiefly in lard, which was in fair demand by shorts. At the close May pork was off a shade at $12.82½. Lard and ribs were each unchanged at $7.02½ and $6.77½ respectively.

Men Past Sixty in Danger.

More than half of mankind over sixty years of age suffer from kidney and bladder disorders, usually enlargement of prostate gland. This is both painful and dangerous, and Foley's Kidney Cure should be taken at the first sign of danger, as it corrects irregularities and has cured many old men of this disease. Mr. Rodney Burnett, Rock Port, Mo., writes: "I suffered with enlarged prostate gland and kidney trouble for years and after taking two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure I feel better than I have for twenty years, although I am now 81 years old."
